RATHER A CHILLY EVENING AT HIS HEADQUARTERS.

McClellan Says He's Going Down to Congress Before He Even Thinks of City Affairs-Murphy Calls and Tells Why He Thinks His Ticket Won Out.

Mayor-elect McClellan will go to Washington soon, probably to-morrow, and, according to a statement issued by him last night, will pay no attention to city affairs until after the adjournment of the special session of Congress.

In the mean time, he said, he would devote all his time to fighting for a reciprocity treaty with Cuba. Notwithstanding the size of the Tammany plurality, enthusiasm at McClellan's percoal headquarters in the Hotel Bartholdi was somewhat forced. The fly in the ointment there was the disinclination of the Mayor-elect to join the general throng of his supporters.

The headquarters on the second floor of the hotel were open to all comers, but the successful candidate remained on the floor shove the greater part of the evening closeted with John J. Delany, J. Sergeant Cram and, later in the night, with Charles F. Murphy.

Comptroller Grout was the only other caller who was admitted to the private apartments above the regular headquarters. Several minor lights in Tammany, including Dr. William J. O'Sullivan and T. C. T. Clain, who called to offer their congratulations, couldn't get upstairs. They didn't hesitate to say that they thought It was a bad beginning for a Tammany

John J. Delany's apology to the crowd for Col. McClellan was that Mrs. McClellan had come down to the hotel to receive the

Col. McClellan did make two flying trips down stairs to say "Thank you, gentlemen," to the crowd, and on one of these trips he made the following statement:

Imps he made the lonowing statement:

I am deeply grateful to my fellow citizens for their confidence in me I renew the promises which I made before election.

I have no bitterness of feeling for any one. I shall go at once to Washington to prepare or the extraordinary session, and as soon is the question of Cuban reciprocity is disposed of, I shall turn my attention to the flairs of the city.

as the question of Cuban reciprocity is disposed of, I shall turn my attention to the affairs of the city.

I invite the cooperation of every citizen, whether he supported me or not and regardless of his political views, in the advancement of the city's good.

I cannot promise much in the way of public improvements for a year. The financial condition of the city and the lack of appropriations seem to preclude that, but I shall urge the speedy and economical completion of the work now under way. I shall make every effort to provide ample school accommodation for every child.

In my administration, subordinates, whether direct or remote, shall be treated with consideration, so as to encourage them to do their best for the city.

This victory should encourage and unite all Democrats for the Presidential contest of 1904.

It was just a little after 7 o'clock when Col. McClellan felt sure enough of the result to make his statement.
F. H. Brooks was the first man to inject anything like enthusiasm into the head-quarters. He drifted in about 7 o'clock and declared that he had won $60,000 by betting on the Tammany candidate.

Under the circumstances he didn't feel particularly glum if he couldn't shake hands with the man he had bet on, and he succeeded in cattlers and he had bet on, and he succeeded in getting a yell of exultation out of the crowd.

Brooks made his first wager on McClellan

Brooks made his first wager on McCiellan on Nov. 19, 1902, when he bet Bryan's friend, Dr. Girdner, that McClellan would be nomi-nated and elected in 1903. The Mayor-elect received the following message from Mayor Low at 9 o'clock:

Col. McClellan replied by telegraph:

I have received your most courteous mes-

Bird S. Coler and Fritz Lindinger, president of the Liquor Dealers' Association, each sent the one word, "Congratulations." Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, called at the McClellan headquarters about 10 o'clock. He and the candidate had a leng consultation.

10 o'clock. He and the candidate had a long consultation.

Mr. Murphy said to the reporters:

"The Democrats of New York city are to be congratulated, not only upon the splendid victory by which an honest Democracy is restored to power, but upon the fact that they have so sterling a man, so able a statesman and so able an executive officer to preside over their splendid Democratic city.

The Democrate are also to be congratu-"The Democrats are also to be congratu-lated on the fact that indecent attack upon decent men has been rebuked in this most emphatic way. Clean government and clean campaigning must now take the place of hypocrisy in office and victous attack. "The result is a great popular tribute to decent methods in politics."

Comptroller Grout dropped in half an hour or so behind Murphy. When asked what he thought about it he threw up his hands and said:

"I can't express it to-night."
"How about Edward M. Grout for Gov-

"No, no!" he exclaimed.
Congressman F. Burton Harrison also called, wearing a toy tiger in the button-hole of his frock coat. Ex-Senator Charles A. Towne had a chance to offer his congratulations downstairs with the crowd.

When the Mayor-elect made his second trip down from the private apartments he was asked if it was too early for him to talk about his appointments.

"I refer you to my formal statement," he said. "I am going to Washington and have not even thought of city appointments."

When asked what he thought had brought about his election the candidate laughed, pulled that rabbit's foot from his waistcoat pocket and said: "I guess this did it Another opinion expressed very fre-nertly at McClellan's headquarters as to what had contributed to the result was that Republican treachery" had had as much to do with it as anything else.

Ex-District Attorney Asa Bird Gardiner gave all the credit to Murphy. He said that the present boss was the most sagacious leader Tammany had had for forty years.

In the absence of any statement from Moclelian as to what he will do after Jan.11 the politicians at the headquarters last night amused themselves by making a partial slate. They named John J. Delany as Corporation Counsel, of course, and mentioned Luke Stapleton as the Assistant Corporation Counsel who will have charge of Brooklyn.

J. Sergeant Cram, who was with McClellan when the returns came in, was assigned by the slate makers to his old job as Dock Sunny Jim Hep may be put back as Com-missioner of Accounts, said the guessers, and they also expressed the opinion that ex-Fire Chief Croker ought to get some-

paign of Vituperation. Comptroller Grout received the returns which announced his election in the Hoffman House. He gave out this statement: "I never had a moment's doubt as to the result when party lines were drawn by y expulsion from the Republican ticket When party lines are drawn in this city, and all the Republicans are on one side and all the Democrats on the other, as has been the case in this campaign, Democratic success is assured from the start. "Those who pledged themselves two

THE MAYOR-ELECT DIDN'T MIX | years ago to non-partisanship in municipal administration made a fatal mistake in Republicanizing the movement this year.

"The victory of the Democratic ticket in Greater New York at this election will give the best kind of encouragement to Democrats throughout the State and throughout the nation, and put the grand old party of Thomas Jefferson in line for a greater victory next year."

"I desire to express my thanks to all Democrats and to others in sympathy with Democracy for their loyalty to the ticket and to me in this campaign. Especially do I desire to acknowledge the loyalty to the best interests of Democracy as displayed by Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany Hall, and by Senator Patrick H. McCarren of Brooklyn. These gentlemen have subordinated all considerations to the welfare of the Democratic ticket. They are deserving the thanks of the people of the city; and that they rightly read the wishes of a large majority of the voters of the city is shown by the results.

"I desire to add only a word as to a feature of the campaign, which I have freely condemned in my address from the platform, namely, the excess of vituperation and abuse which has characterized the Republican attack upon Demogracy during the canvass just closed.

"These men have done their utmost to hold this fair city of ours up to shame before the world. Their rebuke has been complete, emphatic and one that I hope wiff eliminate similar methods from campaigns of the future.

"More gratifying perhaps than anything else in this canvass has been the loyalty to me of my personal friends of every political belief. I have found them stanch and true in the face of public calumny sufficient to shake the faith of the most steadfast. I wish to thank these friends one and all."

After giving out his statement Mr. Grout went out to pay a visit to Leader Murphy. Among those who came in to congratulate Mr. Grout were Asa Bird Gardiner and Senator Patrick H. McCarren.

REVOLTING CAMPAIGN BY FUSION-M'CARREN

REVOLTING CAMPAIGN BY FUSION—M'CARRBN Senator McCarren had this to say:

"Two factors entered into the determination of the result of the election. The first was the supreme disgust of the decent citizens of New York with the filthy and revolting campaign carried on by the fusion organization and the political sewerage indulged in by the papers that permitted themselves to be used as allies.

"The second was the refusal of the partisan Republicans to again subscribe to the non-partisan policy of Mayor Low. The Democratic party was at all stages of the campaign united and it only needed the arrival of the time to demonstrate it."

TAMMANY CHIEFTAIN HEARS THE NEWS WITHOUT ELATION.

Declines to Make Even a Little Speech to the Walting, Cheering Throng-Other Folks Happy in Fourteenth Street-Jubilant Messages From Leaders.

In the executive committee room of Tammany Hall Charles F. Murphy heard the returns read by Senator Thomas F. Grady. Early figures, indicating McClellan's election, had exhilarated the little company in the private chamber to a pleasant state of mind when at 7:30 o'clock the outer guard swung the door open and Mr. Murphy walked in.

He was alone and had come alone from the Anawanda Club, where he had been told that the district had given 4,600 for McClellan, just the estimate that Mr. Murphy had made for it in THE SUN las

Mr. Murphy wore his black cutaway suit and a black tie and derby and a black overcoat. There was a suggestion of flush when he came in and the gathering centred about him to congratulate him. "Don't congratulate me. Congratulate the Mayor. I'm not running," said he. Thereupon every one reminded him that ne had been running the campaign. Mr. Murphy took a seat in the shadows against the west wall, where in a comfortable armchair he listened to the reports being interrupted constantly by newcomers who shook hands with him and told him he was the greatest chief Tammany ever had.

He made an inconspicuous figure there under a crude portrait of George Washington which a frescoer had painted in the days of John Kelly. Nearby were Senator Grady, Secretary Thomas F. Smith, Willis Holly, George Kraus, who is Big Tim Sullivan's partner in the Dewey Theatre; Charles H. Knox, Judge Warren W. Foster, Justice Edward E. McCall, T. C. T. Crain and Dr. W. J. O'Sullivan.

One of the early reports that came by telephone was read with much glee by Secretary Smith, who lives in the Ninth. "Here's Devery's home district, the Nine-eenth of the Ninth," said Mr. Smith: "Low, 120; McClellan 138; Devery, 82." The whooping only stopped when Senstor Patrick Henry McCarren called up on the telephone a minute later to tell Mr.

Murphy that he had carried Kings. At that hour the tidings were so meagre that the Tiger was hopeful but not certain about Brooklyn. The next inspiring message to Murphy from McCarren said that both McCarren's and Sheriff Melody's district had exceeded the Coler vote for McClellan. For a full hour the summary of the vote in Brooklyn, as it was read off, gave Devery "One of the votes for Devery in Brooklyn was cast in Hugh McLaughlin's election district," came the announcement over the elephone. A tidal wave of smiles rose on Murphy's face and broke into dissembling ripples when some one said:

"Now where is the sainted old walrus?" "Littleton canonized him too soon," said "McCarren pulverized him just in time, said one of Little Tim Sullivan's attendants

Then the Eighth came in, not a vote for Devery being reported. "None for him in the Sixth either," said Col. Mike Padden, who came in with a record of 309 to 79 in his own district.

Big Tim Sullivan had the wire next Say, Commissioner, said the Congressman the vote for McClellan down our way is so overwhelming I begin to suspect myself." "Do you suppose those 20,000 floaters got here in time?" asked Col. Padden.
"Devery's got about 1,200 votes in all

New York," said Senator Grady. "That's more than he ought to get," said ! Mr. Murphy, one of the few expressions he uttered during the evening.

John F. Ahearn came in for congratulations. He hadn't paid any attention to ! his vote, but properly estimated that the McClellan vote in Manhattan had carried him into office.

The next of the candidates to show up at Mr. Murphy's court was Mitchell L. owed by Alderman James E. Gaffney, who with another negro. said he had defeated R. Fulton Cutting by over 4,000. Tony Pastor joined in the congratulations to Murphy and gave way to the Hon. William Hep, who shook Mr. Murphy's hand long and vigorously.

Meanwhile Secretary Smith had gone up to the big hall where the common people were awaiting the returns. He gave the news to them in large doses. This was a constantly changing audience of men and women made up from the congestion of Fourteenth street. As one stream travelled upstairs another passed down. John L. Sullivan succeeded in getting upstairs. He edged up toward the platform, took off his hat and said: "Fellow gents, this is ---. " And that's about all he did say. John had begun his celebration before sundown. Friends took him down to the ground floor, where he fell asleep in a chair.

The upstairs crowd kept clamoring for Murphy, and notes were sent down to him asking him if he'd come up and say a few words. Mr. Murphy doesn't like that end of the political game, and he declined. "There isn't much for me to say," said

Mr. Murphy. "I was confident all along that we would win, and we have won by ample pluralities. "McClellan will make a good Mayor. The people felt sure of that when they voted for him. Mr. Murphy and a party of the Tammany leaders will go away for a rest the latter part of the week, probably to Mount Clemens, Mich. Mr. Croker used to retire to Lakewood after elections.

TWO MEN VOTE ON ONE NAME. Frank Johnson Had to Get a Mandamus to Cast His Ballot.

Supreme Court Justice Dickey sat in Special Term in Brooklyn yesterday to attend to election cases. A half dozen applications were made on behalf of the Republican and Democratic general committees for write of mandamus compelling the inspectors of election to permit certain citizens to vote. In each case the inspectors were of the opinion that the applicants had not registered properly. Justice Dickey after hearing the arguments commanded the inspectors to permit the men to vote.

Frank Johnson visited the polling place in the Thirteenth election district of the Fifth Assembly district for the purpose of voting. "You have already voted," said Chairman Meyer Buckman.

"I haven't," retorted Mr. Johnson.

"Then some one has voted on your name," said Mr. Buckman, 'and you can't vote."

said Mr. Buckman, "and you can't vote."
Mr. Johnson immediately went before Justice Dickey, and Mr. Buckman also appeared and explained the reason why he had refused to permit Mr. Johnson to vote. Mr. Johnson assured Justice Dickey that he had not voted, and this being corroborated, Justice Dickey granted a mandamus and Mr. Johnson was thus enabled to cast his KENTUCKY HAS A RECORD OF SEVEN DEAD.

Day of Widespread Shootings at the Polls -Feud Fight Mixed Up in One-Virginia Has a Shooting and Two Demoeratic Election Judges Are Killed.

LEXINGTON, Nov. 3.-Kentucky's fighting record to-day was bloody. A list of the slain up to 8 o'clock to-night is: In Harlan county, Mason Kash and James Willis: Letcher county, Morgan Potter and Harrison Killins; Jackson county, Morgan Voorhies; Lee county, William Simpson, colored; Jefferson county, Thomas Kiley. The list of the wounded is Harlan county, Noah Mullins, William Smith and Mart Whitis: Letcher county, Jim Killins, Mack Potter and a man named Hitchins; Lee county, Sam Ewen, and Jackson county, Ford Maxim, Sikes McIntosh and Jim Williams.

The trouble appeared to be because of voting floaters. The Letcher battle was a feud fight. The Potter and Killins families have been at outs for months, and Harrison Killins was trying to vote a minor named Lafferty when John Potter, who was an election officer, challenged him. Four men lay on the floor of the voting booth when the smoke cleared away.

At Harlan Court House James Willis shot and killed Mason Kash, the former in turn be ing killed by Noah Mullins. Smith and Whitis joined in the battle and some fifty shots were fired, the other participants being unknown. Sam Ewen and William Simpson, a negro, at McKee undertook to storm a voting place by force. Ewen was wounded and Morgan Voorhies killed. A drunken negro whose vote was rejected at Beattyville, undertook to shoot the election booth to pieces, wounding Ford Maxim, Jim Williams and Sikes McIntosh and was himself killed. The epidemic of voting floaters appeared to be general.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 3 .- Thomas Kiely, a Democratic judge of election in the Thirty-minth precinct of the Eleventh ward, was shot and wounded mortally this afternoon by George Krieger, the Republican Sheriff. Kiely is dying at the City Hospital, and Krieger is out on bail. Kiely had quarrelled with William Stevens over the election. Krieger, who was outside the polls, levelled a pistol on his arm and fired. One bullet lodged in Kiely's head. In the lower end of Anderson county, Constable James Edwards was stabbed mortally by Oliver Cary, whom he was trying to arrest this afternoon for disorder at the polls. Both men were Republicans. An Ohio lady tells a good food story. Once years ago my sister, at that time a woman of 35, became so ill from nervous exhaustion that for two years her life was despaired of. She had suffered from dvspepsia since a girl and the nervous trouble of course aggravated that, until it became impossible for her to eat or take nourishment of any kind without intense suffering. "Like all persons affected with nervous diseases she also suffered from insomnia and it was nothing unusual for her to sleep only three hours out of 24. All the years she had been a miserable invalid her diet consisted almost entirely of milk and eggs. Finally Grape-Nuts came upon the market and she tried this food for breakfast, four teaspoonfuls in a pint of hot milk and the change in her condition was perfectly marvelous. "She improved at once and her face has now grown round and fat as I remembered it in girlhood and the increase in flesh has extended all over. She never was weighed while an invatid so we cannot say just how much she has gained, but it wonderful. She now sleeps the whole night through and all the miserable weakness and aches in head and neck are gone. She is again well and strong and happy when it looked as though she would never have any happiness on this earth again. All her neighbors look upon her recovery as a miracle. "The Principal of the public schools in our city is such a strong advocate of Grape-Nuts as a brain food that he has gained the nickname of 'Old Grape-Nuts' but somehow or other he is so jolly and healthy he doesn't seem to care." The Carpet Sale Variety Unimpaired

Quantities Diminished These fine Carpets are to be displaced by new arrivals differing so little in pattern that it's hard to distinguish the new from the old when you see them side by side.

The chief variation lies in the price—a saving to you, in carpeting a room, of $5 to $15. The carpets are all perfect, in standard qualities and good colorings. Variety is still excellent, though quantities have much decreased since the Sale began. Today's opportunities: Axminster Carpets, 25 patterns (small quantities),
